

High Quality Texting Scripts

That Help You Stand Out From Other
Women He's Dating/Texting & Have Him
Always Responding To You!

EMYRALD SINCLAIRE

@MANIFESTWITHEMYRALD

Hello Gorgeous!

Are you ready to become an amazing texter & communicator that has you standing out from all the other women he might be seeing?

There's a way to communicate that has a man practically jumping out of his seat to reply to you (even if he's out with his buddies)...

And there are texts that are just sort of ho-hum and boring that will take him all day to respond to like, 'How was your day' and even 'Thinking of you.'

I'm not saying that you should NEVER send texts like those above. They have their time and place.

But I want to help you stand out from the other women he might be texting. And I want to give you powerful ways to send texts that has him always excited to get texts from YOU, specifically.

Now all of this being said, if you are the only one leading the conversation via text, if he is NEVER the one to instigate a text to you, and if you feel like YOU are chasing him, STOP IT IMMEDIATELY.

I believe in and teach traditional energetic stereotypes:

- heterosexual women in their feminine energy (being pursued) and
- heterosexual men in the masculine energy (doing the pursuing).

If you find that YOU are always in your masculine energy, then he is NOT the guy for you.

Hello Gorgeous!

Instead, I have a great suggestion for you at the end of this guide that is going to help you relax into your feminine energy and become magnetic and attractive to strong, successful, intelligent masculine men who are ready to commit and desire to commit to you! ;)

Speaking of energy: there is one more thing I want to mention in this guide. And that is the energy you are in when you send a text. Never send texts when you are in needy, desperate, sad, or emotional energy.

Why?

Because we are energetic beings and men WILL feel that type of energy from you. So make sure your energy is clean, unattached, fun and easy-going when you are communicating.

Because the reality is this: YOU are an amazing woman. YOU are quite the catch. And if he doesn't see that, MOVE ON!

This allows you to make room for the right man who is going to appreciate all that you are, dear Goddess!

Sending you so much love!

xo

Emyrald

1

Wish You Were Here / Thinking of You

But you don't come right out and say it! Instead, you send something that alludes to the fact that you are thinking about him and you do wish he was there.

You'd absolutely LOVE being here right now!

OMG! You should see this view!

And then let that percolate until he sees it and replies. It will build intrigue and curiosity. And also show that you have a life that is fun (without him). And it creates more desire for him to be a part of YOUR fun life.

I've worked with (and let's be honest, DATED) a TON of men and one of the things they have ALL said is that they do NOT want a woman who just wants to be a house-wife. They want an equal. A woman with a life. A woman pursuing her passions and interests. Not a woman who only wants a relationship and that's it.

So make sure you ARE filling your life with activities that bring you joy. The relationship should never be the source of your happiness. You are responsible for 90% of your happiness. Allow the relationship to be the icing on the cake.

Plus, then it will be really easy for the man to 'win' at making you happy. And truly, that is what men want. They just want to make you happy. So if you've already done 90% of his job, that is going to make you incredibly desirable to the right types of high-quality men.

2

Mystery & Intrigue

This one is honestly my favorite type of text to send because it ALWAYS gets a reply!

Send a short one-liner question (and maybe some exclamation points and emojis) that imply something amazing is happening right now and you want to share it with him! But he has to reply to find out what it is!

Guess what I'm doing?

OMG! You won't believe what just happened!!

*I have a new goal for the next 30 days...
Can you guess what it is?*

I'm literally DYING right now! 😁😁😁

And then wait until he replies. Trust me, the mystery texts always have a guy responding ASAP!

Slightly Sexual

C'mon, let's be honest. Men ARE sexual creatures. And if you want to get his attention (without being trashy) use a text that makes his mind wander a little bit.

Such as:

About to hop in the shower, slip into something sexy and join the girls for a drink...what are you doing tonight? 😏

This does a couple of things.

It will get his mind spinning thinking about you in a desirable and sexy way but also shows that you have your own life and aren't just sitting around waiting on his text and invite on a date.

Note: there is a time and place to use texts like these. Too soon and you WILL seem trashy. But after you've had a couple dates and/or kissed, it can be sure to keep you in the front of his mind.

Men like women who don't take themselves so seriously. When they are thinking about lifelong partnership, they are looking for a women they will enjoy to be around for the rest of their lives.

If you see something funny, snap a picture and send it to him with a caption that invites him to

Show me the funniest part of your day!

Or you can even look up a cheesy pick-up line or Dad joke and fire it his way... with an invite to:

*Give me the best pick-up line/
Dad joke you've heard lately!*

Some of my favorite ways to communicate with guys I'm dating are memes and reels fired back and forth. It keeps things light and fun (because i love deep conversation in person) and has him excited to text back and make me laugh. ;)

5

Contrasting

When you take something completely normal and put a silly spin to it, such as:

I just had the most life-changing smoothie! Seriously, I died and went to heaven... and came back again to send you this text.

This shows you don't take yourself so seriously. Again, men appreciate it when a woman can have fun.

You can also add some 'sex' into it and try something like:

*I had the most life-changing smoothie...
Like it was a little inappropriate how much I enjoyed it in the juice bar*

It's a sexy little way to add some contrast to your texting ... but also bring a little romance and sex into the equation.

Note: Again, there is a time and place to send these types of texts. Too soon and they will come across as trashy or too forward.

A Picture of You

But make it unique! Rather than a bathroom selfie, take a pic of you in the dressing room with an outfit you're trying on and a text that says:

What do you think? Should I get it? Would this look good for our dinner date Friday night? ;)

Or if you don't have a date set up with him, try a text that just asks his opinion on the dress like:

Should I buy? Yes? No? Maybe?
Circle one ;)

Men are highly visual creatures so keep yourself front and center with a picture of you looking amazing... but again, set yourself apart from the other ladies who will most likely just send a bathroom selfie or a pic when they are out with their girlfriends.

7

Compliment Him

Men love to be complimented!

Who doesn't? But rather than just come out and compliment his sexy eyes/smile/butt/arms/personality, snap a picture of an item that you know would look amazing on him and send him the text that says so but get creative/clever about it:

I think I'd be fighting off other women if you were wearing this!

I'd have to wipe the drool off my face if you were wearing this! ;)

This jacket would look so hot on you.

These are sly ways to compliment him and have him instantly thinking about you thinking about him.

Ask for Help/Support/Advice

This last one is also one of my favorites!

Whenever I've asked a man for help (no matter if it's my brother, my tinder date, my friend, my partner or some guy I just passed on the street) it automatically activates the masculine energy of desiring to support!

Which means he is GUARANTEED to reply!

This text is awesome for two reasons:

1- The women I work with are way too much in their masculine and have trouble asking for and receiving help. They are smart, capable and competent. They don't NEED help. And so they have a hard time asking for it.

This will help you get used to asking for help and receiving it.

Sure, you don't NEED a man in the traditional old-school gender stereotypes. However, you DO NEED a partner to help meet your emotional needs in a relationship. Take the weight and pressure off of your shoulders, woman and ask for some deserved support.

2 - The masculine LOVES to help support the feminine.

The masculine energy desires to lead and to be respected. And what better way to respect him, then to ask for his advice/support/opinion!?

Try something like this:

Ask for Help/Support/Advice

I need a new table/saw/screwdriver and have no idea where to even begin to look for such a thing. Do you have any ideas?/Could you go with me to the hardware shop?

Yes, this is a bit of the "Damsel in Distress" role.

But once again, MEN LOVE TO HELP!! And cannot resist replying to a 'help me' text.

I once sent a man I was dating a text that said, 'You're tech savvy right?'

He immediately replied asking what I needed help with. When I explained my dilemma of trying to get my computer to play on the TV, he sent me a video tutorial on how to do it.

This also led to me coyly suggesting wine, popcorn and a movie at my place next weekend as a thank you.

Of course he accepted. ;)

There You Go, Babe.

8 different ways to up your texting game beyond “Thinking of you” or “How was your day?”

These texts will have you standing out from other women and keep the attention of the man whose attention you want to keep!

You can continue to use them long into your relationship (not just at the beginning.) It's important that you never allow yourselves to get too 'comfortable' in your relationship. When two partners start taking each other for granted, that's when issues in a relationship begin. But when you treat your partner like you do in the beginning, you are much more likely to continue flirting and laughing and enjoying each other... for the entirety of your relationship!

Now all of this being said, texting is only part of the equation of attracting (and keeping) an amazing, healthy relationship for the rest of your life.

If you're like most smart, successful women I work with, you've also struggled with questions like:

- How do I STOP pursuing men that I'm interested in?
- How do I get the men I like to chase me?
- How do I flirt with the men I like without seeming like a bimbo or easy?
- Is online dating the only way to meet high-quality men?

Which is why I've created the Magnetic Femme Bundle so that you can become magnetic to incredibly high-caliber men who are attractive, funny, successful and ready to commit to a woman like you!! (And no, you do NOT need to use online dating if you don't want to!)

Click here to become the Magnetic Femme!

xo Emuzaald